X-Ray

Medical College of Virginia
Virginia Commonwealth University
Richmond, Virginia
Dear Students:

It gives me great pleasure to welcome you to this edition of X-Ray. Virginia Commonwealth University is proud of the more than 4,000 students and residents who are studying here for careers in allied health professions, dentistry, medicine, nursing and pharmacy. Our academic schools and the VCU Health System make us one of the most comprehensive academic medical centers in the nation.

The array of nationally and internationally recognized faculty working on new discoveries and their applications in the health sciences is one of the tremendous benefits of your education here. Your faculty are attracting national recognition for excellence in professional and graduate education as well as in the life sciences. They are involved in all aspects of your education — in the classroom, in the laboratory and with patients — and they are involved in enhancing life sciences teaching, research and public education throughout the University.

Our reputation for excellence is based on the tremendous accomplishments of both our faculty and of you, our students — and it is a reputation in which we can all take much pride. I am delighted that you chose VCU as the place to pursue your education and wish you much success in your future endeavors.

Sincerely,

Eugene P. Trani
President
Virginia Commonwealth University

President and Chair of the Board of Directors, VCU Health System
As you read this issue of the X-Ray you will be impressed by the tremendous accomplishments of the School of Allied Health Professions' students, faculty, staff, and alumni.

The shifting of demographic, macroeconomic forces, volatility in the health care industry, and rapidly emerging technologies have all significantly impacted our school. As a consequence, we have developed state-of-the-art programs, which have enhanced our capacity for even greater achievement and quality improvement. By many objective measures, our school is one of the leading school's of allied health in the country. But to declare victory or to become too complacent would harm many of the accomplishments this school has made. Hence, we will continue our bold new initiatives and continue to make change happen-to continue as the national leader in allied health higher education. All these things will enhance the academic and clinical excellence of our students. We are so proud of our students, as these persons will provide positive leadership in their chosen profession in the future.

There are no other School of Allied Health Professions in the country that can boost of having as many as five of their Departments ranked in the top twenty of the 2004 edition of the U.S. News and World Report, “Best Graduate School’s.” Ranked in the top ten, our Department of Nurse Anesthesia ranks number 1 and our Department of Health Administration is ranked number 5. Our other excellent Department's to be ranked in the 2004 edition are the Department of Physical Therapy, number 15; Department of Occupational Therapy, number 17, and the Department of Rehabilitation Counseling, number 20. These rankings reflect the wonderful accomplishments of our School and certainly they reflect the excellence of our outstanding students and alumnae.

Soon many of you will be joining the ranks of our distinguished alumni. I hope you will remember your VCU years fondly, and maintain an active relationship with us. On behalf of the faculty and staff of the School of Allied Health Professions, congratulations and sincere best wishes for your future.

Sincerely,

Cecil B. Drain, Ph.D.

Dear Students,

I would like to salute the VCU School of Dentistry Class of 2005 as it enters the dental profession to serve the people of Virginia and beyond. You have been well prepared to face the many opportunities and challenges your new careers will bring. We have an outstanding faculty and support staff that collectively comprise the best that dental education has to offer. I am confident they have provided you the breadth, depth, and quality of instruction and learning experiences that you need to enter the postdoctoral education program of your choice or directly into the practice of general dentistry or dental hygiene. For your part, you have demonstrated the capability, ccompetence, and dedication needed to succeed in our profession.

While the nation and the Commonwealth face serious economic uncertainty, you are entering a profession that has remained strong for its members and the public. The School of Dentistry strives to sustain its strengths and yet improve where it can. We would like to keep you informed about new developments at the School, so as you pursue your professional careers, I would ask that you not lose touch with VCU or the School of Dentistry.

The Class of 2004 is distinguished in many ways, but you are in the very center of my radar screen because, as you know, you and I graduate together. I, after 43 years at MCV/VCU, and you, after four years of hard work here, will move on to other things. In graduating with you, I feel to be in very good company!

Although I hope to remain active in modest ways, your activities will and should be far from modest. You have waiting for you the whole world anticipating great things from you. Your impressive talents, dogged diligence, earnest preparation, and unblemished professionalism should put you in perfect position for distinguished careers. To classes that follow, I say....watch these M-2004’s closely and match their moves.

As you inevitably leave traces of yourselves in the faculty’s thoughts, please take part of us with you.......remember us and keep in touch.

Dear students;

What a wonderful time in life. Your education and ultimately your graduation represents to many people, yourself, your parents, your spouses and significant others and your faculty. Your education represents a gift to yourself that will only appreciate in value through the years. Furthermore, your graduation will be a gift to the citizens of Virginia and nation because you are contributing to the reduction in the nursing shortage, a shortage which if unaddressed will place the health of the people of this nation at risk.

The value of your degree from Virginia Commonwealth University will also increase as our national reputation continues to increase. The reputation of VCU will increase because of the work of its faculty and you as graduates. This School has a long and proud history of recognition as a School that prepares quality graduates and more recently as a School that informs the practice of nursing. As you graduate and enter professional practice you stand on the shoulders of the giantesses who have preceded you as graduates of this program. We expect that you will continue the legacy of this fine School and in so doing enhance the value of your education and that of future generations of students who elect to study at your alma mater.

I extend best wishes to you complete your education and become practitioners and leaders for the profession.

Sincerely,

I am very pleased to take this opportunity to salute the graduating class of 2005 as you prepare to enter into a practice environment that will provide you with many challenging and rewarding opportunities in the years to come. The health care environment that you are about to enter will continue to evolve, and your role as part of the health care team will become increasingly more visible. Our intention in the School of Pharmacy was to prepare you to be able to respond to these health care market changes while being motivated to continue to learn throughout your professional careers.

To survive in these changing waters you must not only possess the required clinical skills to take care of the individuals who seek your care, you must be able to argue, to persuade, and to transmit accurate data, impressions, and conclusions. You must know how to communicate! You must understand ethics and behave in an ethical manner. You must be able to understand population dynamics and epidemiology, and you must be able to document clearly the services you provide to your patients. You are a unique and valuable member of the health care team because you can make a contribution to the pharmacotherapy decision-making process that no other team member is able to offer.

I hope you carry with you a feeling of pride and accomplishment as you leave this School of Pharmacy. We are honored that you have chosen our program to prepare you to practice your profession, and we hope you will allow us to continue to play a significant role in your professional growth and development in the future.

Dear Class of 2005:

It gives me great pleasure to congratulate each of you on a job well done! Although I have been the Associate Dean for Student Affairs for less than a year, I have enjoyed meeting and working with you individually as well as with the leadership from the schools, programs and SGA on the MCV Campus. Virginia Commonwealth University is proud of the contributions you will make to those in need and to the healthcare profession. I wish each of you good luck and good will.

Dr. Geoffrey H. Young
Associate Dean of Student Affairs
The Student Government Association of Virginia Commonwealth University- Medical College of Virginia thanks you for all your generous support of student activities.
